

Dynamic ReadOnly

Dynamic ReadOnly allows any control to be marked as read-only at runtime even if you can edit the property associated with that control with lock. Dynamic read-only is a Boolean expression defined using properties from the current and previous pages. At runtime, Dynamic expression will be evaluated and control will be marked as read-only if the value is true.

